

ISS National Laboratory: Progress and Opportunities

Greg Johnson
CASIS

The International Space Station is a revolutionary laboratory that is truly expanding the frontiers of science and innovation. This presentation will discuss how the ISS National Laboratory and CASIS are enabling nontraditional users—from Fortune 500 companies to academic and governmental institutions—to utilize microgravity to maximize research and development outcomes and success.